1. About this Profile

Welcome to the TalentPredix™ Group Profile for the Group Sample group.

This summary profile is based on 13 respondents you have selected to be included in the profile. Full list of respondents is provided on the back of the report.

The TalentPredix™ Group Profile profile provides you with a better understanding of:

- The group's overall Top Talents and how these are distributed across four Talent Zones
- The group's Potential Performance Limiters, including weaker areas
- The group's Career Drivers and Values

Key Definitions:

- Top Talents are underlying qualities that come naturally to people and enable them to do their best work.
- Career Drivers are underlying career motivations that are most important to people. They guide their career choices and decisions.
- Values are fundamental beliefs people hold about what is most important that guide their decisions and actions at work and in life more generally.
- Talents used In Excess are Talents that are overused and can undermine peoples's performance and relationships if left unchecked.
- Performance Limiters include both weaker areas or overused talents (i.e. Talents in Excess) that can undermine performance.

2. Group's Top Talents

The graph below shows the percentage and total number of people in the group reporting each of the twenty talents in the assessment as a Top 5 Talent. These talents are categorised into four Talent Zones: Connecting, Delivering, Navigating Change and Problem Solving.

Where more than 50% of the group have reported a talent as a Top Talent, this is likely to be a Towering Talent (or standout talent) for the group. Towering Talents signal opportunities for the group to be at their best and deliver exceptional performance.

However, groups may at times overuse their Towering Talents. When this happens, these overused talents can undermine the group's overall performance. Being aware of the group's overused or In Excess Talents can help the group tackle unproductive patterns of behaviour early, before they lead to bigger performance problems.

3. Group's Talent Zones

In the graph below, you can see the percentages of the group's Top Talents that fall into each of the four Talent Zones. This will provide you with a good indication about how energized and effective the group is likely to be across the four zones.

CONNECTING

Building and maintaining strong relationships.

DELIVERING

Delivering results in an effective and efficient manner.

NAVIGATING CHANGE

Navigating and responding effectively to change.

PROBLEM SOLVING

Finding solutions to problems using information, ideas and analysis.

4. Group's Lowest Scoring Talents

The graph below shows the total number of people in the group reporting each of the twenty talents in the assessment as their 2 Lowest Scoring Talents.

These talents are categorised into four Talent Zones: Connecting, Delivering, Navigating Change and Problem Solving. Although these are not necessarily limiting weaknesses, they could undermine the group's performance in certain situations.

5. Group's Career Drivers

The graph below shows the total number of people in the group reporting each of the twelve Career Drivers in the assessment as one of their Top 3 Career Drivers.

This will give you a better understanding of the career motivations that are most important to people in the group and how these may impact their career choices and decisions.

6. Group's Values

The graph below shows the total number of people in the group reporting each of the nineteen Values in the assessment as one of their Top 4 Values.

This will give you a better understanding of the values that are most important to people in the group and how these may impact their day-to-day actions and decisions at work. A better understanding about a group's values can also help you understand how well people's values are aligned with the values of the team, business area and/or organization.
